Take Shape

Singing, music, acrobatic dancing, humorous reading, and "Malcolm" entertained Omaha University students at the second annual Freshman Talent Show. The show was presented at a 9:30 a. m. convocation in the auditorium Wednesday.

: Ila Jorgensen and Ginger Maxwell opened the show with their styling of "Tennessee Waltz." This brought them the encore of "Bermuda" which they sang in interpretation of the Bell Sisters.

"I Can't Give You Anything but Love" and "Blue Moon" by Jean Killian were applauded for an encore. Miss Killian offered her arrangement of "Old Black Magic."

Acrobatic Dancing
Sighs and applause showed the audience's approval to the bends and twists of Patty Vorel. She did an acrobatic dance to "Deep Purple."

The "uplift" of the talent review was soprano June Parker's vocal solo of "Love Is Where You Find It." The scene of the show then changed to the ball park with Jackie Young setting the tempo with a reading, "At the Baseball Game."

Larry Means closed the show with a one-man jazz session at the piano. The audience called the young pianist back for another

Former Consul Talks Monday

A Coffee Hour will be held Monday at 2 p. m. in the faculty clubroom for all students interested in foreign affairs and future careers in the U.S. Foreign Serv-

Sam Moskowitz of the U.S. Department of State will be on the campus to answer questions which students may have on the forth-coming Foreign Service Officer examinations. These exams, given once a year, will be given Sept. 14 to 17, 1953. Successful candidates are eligible for a life-time career in the U. S. foreign service.

Moskowitz is former vice-consul in Munich, Germany, and is visiting several midwestern universities on a speaking tour in behalf of these exams.

The exams are open to any man or woman, regardless of race, creed or color between the ages of 21 and 30, who are American citizens of 10 years standing.

Sociology Director Here Wednesday

An authority on sociology will visit the University campus next Wednesday.

Dr. E. M. Sunley, director of the School of Social Work at the University of Denver, will talk to all students who are interested in doing graduate work in sociology.

Those who wish to talk to Dr. Sunley should contact George Pritchard, education professor.

The three are William Duffack, Robert Rubenstein and Dale Womer. All three are in the upper 35 per cent of their class scholastically, and have shown leadership in other campus activi-

Duffack's major interest lies in athletics, and he received points as a minor in social and religious activities. Rubenstein had a major in social and religious activi-ties and a minor in athletics. Womer's major was athletics, his minor scholarship.

Two faculty members were also chosen for ODK membership.
They are Paul Beck, history instructor, and Don Pflasterer, assistant dean of students. All five new members were initiated into the group Thursday afternoon in Room 100,

R. Wayne Wilson, business instructor, completed his term as faculty adviser this semester. Faculty members serving as advisers at present are Harry Rice, mathe-matics instructor, Paul Crossman, husiness instructor, and John Lu-cas, dean of the College of Busi-ness Administration.

National Council Meets Tomorrow

The General Council of ODK will meet at the University to-morrow. The OU active chapter and local alumni will be hoste for the day at a luncheon at noon in the faculty clubroom.

Speakers at the luncheon will include President Milo Ball, who will welcome the group, and ODK National Secretary Robert Bishop. Jack Feierman, president of the alumni, will speak on behalf of the alumni circle. National President Gordon Johnston will talk on the work of the General Council.

National officers attending the meeting include Vice-President Fred B. Wenn, Georgia Institute of Technology; Treasurer R. D. McIntyre, University of Kentucky, and past President Marten Ten Hoor, University of Alabama.

At National Conclave

By Bill Beindorff

Delegates to the Arnold Air Society annual conclave in Los Angeles last week "brought home the bacon" for Omaha University.

Cadet Captains Robert Biegel and Jack Katz and ROTC advisors, Maj. John Burnett and Maj. Rob-ert Whaley, returned with two victories from the conclave.

The Angel's Flight is now recognized as the national title for all sister organizations of the Arnold Air Society.

Also, Omaha will be the site for next year's conclave.

"With seven hundred delegates expected in Omaha for next year's conclave, this should be the most business ever brought to Omaha through a University convention," commented Burnett.

OU's two delegates and both majors established a good repu-tation for Omaha at the conven-

Planning

"With advanced planning we won't have trouble living up to that reputation next year," stated

The OU representatives flew to Los Angeles from Offutt Air Force base in a C-54. The plane stopped at four other cities en route to pick up conclave delegates. Biegel and Katz, sitting on suit cases, scooted up and down the aisle telling others the advantages of their proposals.

Katz made a date in advance to see two girls while in Los Angeles. He didn't have a chance to keep the date, as he was too busy promoting the University as a con-clave site and the Angel's Flight as a national organization.

Door Knobs In fact, both OU cadet delegates were so busy that Burnett and two colonels, enlisted for the project, hung special door knob signs on all the doors of the conclave

"I had not realized there were so many doors in the Biltmore," commented Burnett.

The signs read: "Please do not disturb—We're resting up for the conclave in Omaha next year."

Both Burnett and Whaley agreed that Omaha was picked as next year's convention site as a result of three things:

1. The willingness of the Strategic Air Command, located at Offutt Field, to cooperate with the University's plans.

2. The presence of the Angel's

3. The effectiveness of both fellows during this year's conclave plus the pre-conclave planning done by many other cadets here

Indians Test Maroons Tomorrow Night at OU

Depth on Bench Boosts Prospects

Tomorrow night the University of Omaha cagers will need all the experience they gained against Emporla, when they entertain Morningside College.

Morningside College.

The game will start at 8 p. m. on the OU maples. A "B" team game will precede it, beginning at 6 p. m.

Omaha coach Virgil Yelkin used all hands in the 69-49 romp over the Kansans last Monday, trying all combinations.

The depth on the Omaha bench brightened the Indians' outlook for tomorrow night. In fact, it was the factor that downed Emporia's one-man gang, Charlie Dehlinger.

Good floor play

Especially bright was the play of forward Bob Rose, center Lee Nelson and guard Bob Mackle. Also outstanding was the defensive work of Tom Mosiman and the floor play of Don Fitch and Don Claussen.

The performances of Rose, Nelson, and Mackle earned them starting positions in the Morningside tilt. Fred Shinrock, who started at guard against Emporia, was moved to forward for tomorrow night's clash.

Pettit Starts

Ralph Pettit will take the other guard post to round out the starting five. Mosiman, Fitch, Claussen and Bob Moscrey will no doubt see a lot of action against the Maroons.

Last year the Indians dropped two games to the cagers from Sioux City. Omaha journeyed to the Iowa city only to get edged, then returned to the home court to drop another to the Maroons by a two basket margin.

The Indians will have the advantage in height when they take the floor tomorrow night with the starting five averaging nearly 6-2. The Maroons will field a team averaging a shade over six feet.

Knauer back
Wilbur Long, 6-3, will start at center for Morningside. Ray
Knauer, 6-2, and Bill Ide, 5-10, will start at the forward posi-

At the guard posts are Dick Norman and Buck Miller, both at six feet even.

On the bench the Maroons have Al Brunsting, 6-5, to take over the center position.

'Mural Council Plans Basketball Schedule

Men's intramural winter sports will be discussed at the 'Mural Council meeting this afternoon at 3 p. m. in the Fieldhouse:

Schedules for basketball, volleyball and badminton will be made up. Play in the three sports will start after Christmas vacation.

Harold Sage, council chairman, announced that a representative of each organization planning to enter a basketball team must attend today's meeting. The deadline for team rosters is Dec. 12 in the office of Virgil Yelkin.

Team managers should contact Ernie Gorr immediately to arrange for team practices next week. The practices will be held from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. League games will be played during the same times, Monday through Thursday each week after the vacation.

This year officials for the cage games will be chosen from the participating organizations, unless enough students sign up to referee for the experience.

Play in volleyball and badminton will start as soon as the basketball league is under way.

Students to Attend Football Banquet

Omaha University students are urged to attend the annual Football banquet and dance Wednesday night at the Fontenelle Hotel.

Students may buy tickets for the dance at $1 a couple, or 50 cents a person. Tickets for both the banquet and the dance are $2.50 and are being sold in the Alumni Office. Jay Bellaire's Orchestra will play for the dance.

The Indian five looked shaky in the first quarter, but it was only a matter of time before they shook off the opening litters and scored at will.

Coach Virgil Yelkin's main problem seemed to be picking a starting lineup. All 15 members of the OU squad appeared during the game. They all showed plenty of hustle and basketball savvy.

Dehlinger Steals Show

But a short Kansan by the name of Charlie Dehlinger stole the show. He was a constant thornin the Indians' side, and ended his night's performance with 28 points.

The Indians showed plenty of finesse on defense. They continually broke up Emporia plays and forced their opponents to shoot from a distance, Ralph Pettit stood out on defense, being the only man on the squad to hold flashy Dehlinger scoreless.

Mackie, Rose Shine

The Indians passed well, and could have run up a bigger score, but coach Yelkin had them slow up and work out plays.

Bob Mackie and Bob Rose were the big guns in the OU offense. Both scored 13 points, Don Claussen added 12 points.

OUWI Plays Annual Yule Party; Chi O Bowlers Lead

Omaha University Women's Intramural organization will hold its annual children's Christmas party at Riverview Home from 7 p.m., to 9 p. m., Dec. 11.

Gifts, games and refreshments will be furnished by OUWI members who sign up in the women's physical education but to participate in party preparations.

Chairman of the party is Betty Ann Poska. Ruth Longville has charge of the games while Joan Thies and Mary Lenahan plan the program, Decorations are being handled by Darlene Buckingham and Joy Miller is planning refreshments. The Chi Omega bowling team is out in front with 21 wins and six losses. This is at the one-third mark in the OUWI bowling tournament.

In team series scores, Alpha XI Delta leads Chi Omega with a score of 1427 to 1424. Sigma Kappa is third with 1393 points.

In the individual series Alpha Xi Delta's Patsy Cahow holds a one point lead over Corinne Houser of Chi O with a score of 157 to 156.

Participants in the badminton tournament are entering the second round in singles and doubles matches.
